She'll Be the Sky

Poems by Women and Girls

Ella Risbridger, Anna Shepeta

Key Selling Points

A giftable classic with sumptuous finishes including cloth binding, full color illustrations throughout, textured paper jacket, ribbon marker, and head and tail bands

An outstanding collection of women's poetry including works by household names like Carol Ann Duffy and Wendy Copy, as well as newer contemporary poets such as Nikita Gill and Yrsa Daley-Ward

From talented anthologist, Ella Risbridger

Fully illustrated throughout with gorgeous, atmospheric artwork from Anna Shepeta

Features poems from current US poet Laureate Ada Limón and 2022 Laureate Joy Harjo.

Summary

From well-loved poets — including Maya Angelou, Wendy Cope, Lucille Clifton, and Christina Rossetti — to newer voices — such as Amanda Gorman, Yrsa-Daley Ward, and Amineh Abou Kerech — this outstanding collection from talented anthologist Ella Risbridger has poems for every mood and every moment. Ella's selection is wide-ranging but accessible and will appeal to poetry lovers both young and old alike.

Contributor Bio

Ella Risbridger is a writer from London. Her first cook book, Midnight Chicken (& Other Recipes Worth Living For), was named a Book Of The Year 2019 by half a dozen different publications, including The Times, The Daily Mail, and The Observer. She is also the author of the children's book, The Secret Detectives.

Anna Shepeta is an illustrator, painter, and ceramicist. Anna enjoys portraying strong female characters and the fighting spirit! When she's not creating magical art, Anna likes to bake rainbow cookies and watch detective series. And she really likes making to-do lists.

Hen in the Bed

Katrina Charman, Guilherme Karsten

Key Selling Points

A hilarious interpretation of the popular "Ten in the Bed" rhyme featuring a cast of zany animal characters

Split-page novelty format (similar to The Very Hungry Caterpillar) adds fun as each animal tumbles out of bed with every page turn

Cozy bedtime ending

Bright, stylish, brilliantly chaotic illustrations from award-winning illustrator Guilherme Karsten

Summary

There were 10 in the bed and the speckled hen said, "Roll over! Roll over!"

Count the funny animal friends as they noisily roll, flop, and tumble out of bed, one by one, in this clever split-page picture book.

As the bed gets emptier, bedtime gets more and more chaotic.

Will anyone EVER get any sleep?

Contributor Bio

Katrina Charman has spent her life surrounded by books ever since her first visit to the library when she was tiny. She now lives in a house full of bookshelves and continues to fill them with books that she has written. When she's not writing for children, you can find Katrina cuddled up with one of her fluffy cats and a good book or plucking cat hairs off her clothes. She lives in Wokingham, England.

Guilherme Karsten won a national contest for new children's book illustrators in 2010 and has been working with illustrations ever since. After illustrating many books for other authors, he started writing his own books in 2017. Guilherme's work has been published worldwide and has received various accolades, including the Jabuti Award and the Golden Pinwheel Grand Award. Guilherme lives in Blumenau, in southern Brazil.

Every Bunny is a Yoga Bunny

Emily Ann Davison, Deborah Allwright

Key Selling Points

A funny, charming story featuring yoga poses and mindfulness techniques to help young readers relax and feel calm
With lively artwork full of warmth and texture from Deborah Allwright, bestselling and award-winning illustrator of There is No Dragon in This Story and The Night Pirates

Written with consultation from yoga instructor Elizabeth Jenner

Features step-by-step instructions at the end of the book so little ones can stretch, breathe, and feel calm with Yo-Yo after enjoying the story

Summary

When Grandpa teaches Yo-Yo, Roly, and Flo how to do yoga, there's one little bunny who finds it very hard. Yo-Yo just can't stop fidgeting, wiggling, and giggling! But when Yo-Yo finds herself lost in the forest, she remembers Grandpa's yoga shapes.

And as she crouches down like a frog, stretches up tall like a tree, and stands still like a mountain, her worries slowly begin to disappear, as she finds her way home . . .

Simple step-by-step instructions (written with consultation from a yoga instructor) at the end show children how to stretch, feel calm, and be a yoga bunny too.

Contributor Bio

Emily Ann Davison spent her childhood writing. It's therefore no surprise that she became an author, it just took her a little while to get there. When she isn't writing, she can be found playing the piano, having adventures with her family, or daydreaming about what stories to write next. She is never seen without a cup of tea. Emily lives with her daughter, husband, and dog in Kent, England.

Deborah Allwright started illustrating as a child and now has more than 40 picture books and several awards with her name on them. When she's not drawing, painting, or snipping paper, you'll find her riding horses, swimming in the sea, or searching for bats and moths. She lives with her partner and two cats in London, England.

Illustrations

The Goat and the Stoat and the Boat

Em Lynas, Matt Hunt

Key Selling Points

Features bright neon artwork and colorful, hilarious characters
Tongue-twister text will inspire giggles in any read aloud

Simple introduction to rhyme for young readers and young listeners

Summary

Stoat is very happy alone in a boat when along comes Goat. In a colorful coat...determined to float WITH Stoat and SHARE the boat. When Stoat tries to chase Goat out of the boat, it becomes trickier to stay afloat.

Uh-oh!

Will Stoat and Goat end up in the moat? And will Goat's colorful coat be ruined?

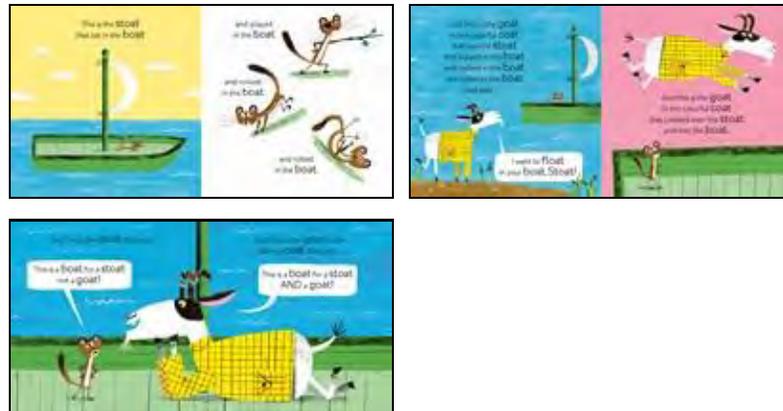

Featuring a hilarious, tongue-twister text, slapstick humor, bright neon artwork, and colorful characters.

Contributor Bio

The Girl Who Planted Trees

Caryl Hart, Anastasia Suvorova

Key Selling Points

An empowering and uplifting tale for our time by award-winning author Caryl Hart about the power of hope, determination, and community
Featuring a warm grandchild-grandparent relationship at its center

Engaging central character and direct addresses to the reader will encourage children to tackle global issues and realize that, in the words of Greta Thunberg, "No one is too small to make a difference."

Perfect for fans of the acclaimed picture book Greta and the Giants by Zoë Tucker and Zoe Persico

By Girls Can Do Anything! author Caryl Hart

Summary

When a small girl discovers there was once a lush forest on the great gray mountain, she is determined to plant as many new trees as she can. And even though the blazing sun shrivels the new shoots and fierce storms wash away all her hard work . . . she never, EVER gives up.

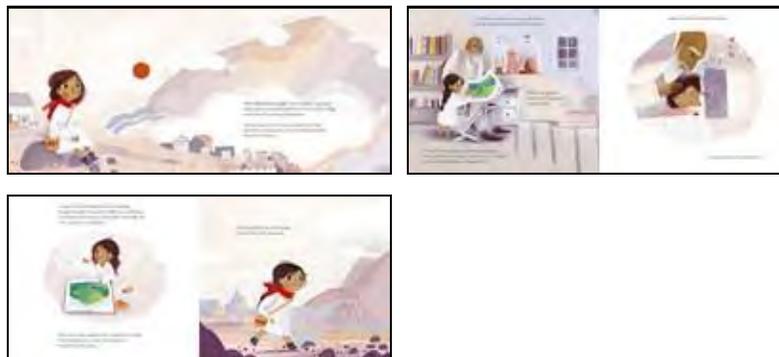

A powerful and hopeful story about how one girl's dream inspires a whole village and how, together, they can create something incredible.

Contributor Bio

Ruth Millington is an art historian and author, researching and writing about great artists, muses, and masterpieces. She has appeared on TV and radio, telling stories about Surrealism, Frida Kahlo, and other artists from around the world. When she is not working, Ruth loves to read, sing along to music, and decorate her home with lots and lots of art. She also likes to drink tea and paint pictures, and sometimes dips brushes in her mug by accident! She was brought up on the sunny island of Bermuda but now lives in the much rainier Birmingham, England.

Ellen Surrey is an illustrator who enjoys blending her love of mid-century design with vintage children's books. She also enjoys finding beauty in the past and colorfully sharing it with a contemporary audience. She's illustrated many books about inspiring people, including Dolly Parton! Her work has appeared in The New York Times, The New Yorker, and The Los Angeles Times. When she isn't working, Ellen enjoys watching old movies and visiting her favorite thrift stores. She lives in sunny Los Angeles, California.

We do have one spread that discusses Western fascination with Egyptian mummies from the Middle Ages through modern times. Readers will encounter this spread after seeing page after page detailing the artful, worshipful care that went into the mummification process, making the subject ripe for discussion. The text on this spread covers both "why" mummies were unwrapped (entertainment, curiosity, research, to make and sell products) and "how" (not with care or respect). The text does not shy away from listing the ways that hundreds of mummies were lost and destroyed over time due to Western interest.

Summary

Find out the answers to these questions (and many more!) in this gruesome guide to the mummification process. Filled with fascinating detail, you'll uncover secrets of the embalmers, tales of the tomb robbers, and even what happened when pets were mummified! Meet some famous mummified remains from around the world, from Tutankhamun to the "unlucky mummy," and find out what happened when archaeologists unwrapped mummified remains thousands of years after they were buried. Illustrations of sarcophagi, gilded burial masks, and Egyptian friezes will inspire and delight young Egyptologists in the making.

With a glorious gold foil cover and quirky color illustrations on every page, children aged 7+ will enjoy learning lots more about mummies!

Dr. Jess French

Veterinary surgeon, zoologist, children's TV host, and author — Jess loves all animals, and she loves the natural world they live in, too. She thinks it is very important that we all work hard to protect the natural world, and she hopes that the wonderful children that read her books will be kind enough to educate the grown-ups they meet about animals, the environment, and what we can do to save them. Jess has a degree in Zoology from University College London, as well as degrees in Veterinary Medicine and Surgery from the University of Nottingham. She is children's ambassador for the Norfolk Wildlife Trust and a patron of Norwich Science Festival. She lives with her family and pets in the countryside in Norfolk, England.

Angela Keoghan

A former photographer turned illustrator from New Zealand, Angela's illustrations are inspired by her childhood, which was spent surrounded by animals, drawing, reading, and exploring the rural pastures of her home in the Waikato. Her layered, whimsical illustrations are created in a mixture of media both on and off the computer. Angela currently lives with her husband and business partner Jayden in the beautiful New Zealand countryside.
